

ACSLM Scientific Writing Workshop
ACSLM Office, 31 Old Kilmainham Road,
Dublin 8
Wednesday 16th October 2019

Presented by Dr Brigid Lucey and Dr James O'Connor

Who is this course for?

Medical Scientists of all grades and experience levels, cost €40 for current ACSLM members, €100 non-members

Requirements for application: Please fill out survey monkey questionnaire once you have registered via ACSLM website.

Programme - How to Write a Paper and get Published

- 9:30am-10am - Registration, Welcome, Tea/Coffee and Introductions

Speakers: Dr Brigid Lucey and Dr James O'Connor

- 10am-10.40am: Introduction to Scientific Writing
- 10.40am - 1pm: Workshop Part I
- 1pm - 1.30pm: Lunch (will be served on the premises)
- 1.30pm - 3.40pm: Workshop Part II
- 3.40pm - 4pm: Discussion/Questions

The content addressed on the day will cover:

- Becoming comfortable with the scientific writing process, including language style, presentation and editing through putting together a paper (draft)
- Take-home practical tips and aids to facilitate writing, referencing and literature review processes
- Intellectual property, order of authorship and when acknowledgement is more appropriate than co-authorship
- Demystifying the publication process including the peer review process

To secure your place:

Please pre-book and pre-pay online: www.acslm.ie, select the CPD tab, click on events – select your event, book as an Academy Member.

A limited number of places available and are open to all Academy Members only from 9am September 12th to 5pm on September 25th. Booking for Non-Members opens 9am September 26th to 5pm October 3rd. Queries should be directed to CPD Officers Jemma or Leo via email at cpd@acslm.ie

No of CPD points awarded:

5 for a full-day workshop with potential to earn an additional 2-3 depending on the amount of data acquisition before the workshop OR if your paper/piece of work is selected for publication in Converse.